Full Spectrum Jazz Ensemble

Full Spectrum is a nationally acclaimed jazz ensemble, noted for its distinctive sound and entertaining blend of musical styles. Each member of this jazz ensemble brings remarkable expertise and flair to this versatile group. Full Spectrum delights audiences around the world with an enticing mixture of selections, ranging from original compositions by today's most esteemed composers to the familiar sounds of the Big Band era. This jazz ensemble continually broadens its repertoire with arrangements tailored specifically for the group's unique instrumentation.

Full Spectrum has performed throughout the United States and overseas including Puerto Rico, Russia, Italy, Turkey, Germany, Spain, Macedonia, Panama, Japan and Korea. The band has also performed at several major jazz festivals, including Jacksonville, Clearwater, and Hollywood, in Florida, and the Savannah Jazz Festival and Atlanta-Montreaux Music Festival in Georgia. The group has performed with such noted artists as composer Rob McConnell, saxophonist and educator Jerry Coker, tenor saxophonist Ernie Watts, alto saxophonist Mike Smith, baritone saxophonist Nick Brignola, and trumpeters Jon Faddis, Bobby Shew, and Marvin Stamm. Full Spectrum has also toured with country music group Ricochet and singer/songwriter Lisa Angelle.

The members of Full Spectrum are active duty professional Air Force musicians working in support of the Air Force Reserve and Air Force Recruiting and community relations objectives.
